COMPANY PROFILE

A WORD FROM OUR DIRECTOR

I grew up on my father's coffee farm in Kasese, western Uganda. He was a coffee farmer and there I learned to appreciate the labour and fruit of his work. Many of the farmers I still call family and friends. We worked together, did life together and amidst the many challenges the industry faced, I dreamed of turning what we had into something more profitable and sustainable - to explore new opportunities and sell products of higher market value. Products that could fetch more income and allow farmers like us to invest into producing better yields and earning fair wages. The knowledge I have gained over the years has helped me work alongside farmers towards more sustainable and profitable practices where all stakeholders benefit fairly. I have been very lucky to form and work with an amazing team of people at FFI. Their deep commitment and passion has helped me lead better and has fueled our company growth. It is an honor for me to continue working to grow our capacities.

SUSTAINABLE COCOA

EMPOWERING COCOA FARMERS FOR GENERATIONS

In an industry that faces sustainability challenges, we are determined and equipped to empower smallholder farmers to secure the future of their farms; We buy cocoa and coffee directly from farmer groups in all major cocoa/coffee growing regions of Uganda. We train and mentor farmers groups in healthy agricultural practices that ensure high yields and healthy cocoa farms that can bring profits for generations. Farms where the environment and trees are protected, where farmers earn an equitable wage, can educate their families and improve lives in their usually low-income households.

10% of the profit we make selling processed beans goes back to the small holder farmers. Some of that is reinvested directly into the farms through savings schemes. We provide farmers quality cocoa & coffee seedlings and fruit to expand their produce and maximize capacity of their land by growing more.

VALUE ADDITION

A HIGH-QUALITY SUPPLY CHAIN FROM THE FARMER TO THE CONSUMER

Our goal is to establish a profitable, sustainable, high quality supply chain from the local farmer to the consumer. Raw cocoa and coffee beans are processed under tight quality control measures ensuring premium quality and higher market value. Processed beans fetch up to 4 times more revenue, which is then distributed among the different value addition chains. Savings schemes allow farmer groups to reinvest directly into their farms. We support initiatives & processes that start from the very basic level of teaching correct farming practices such as land preparation, fertilizer application, pests and diseases control and management and irrigation to farmers to primary and secondary processing and facilities maintenance at our factory. This way we maximize our profits and ensure sustainability.
